Gold was strong and steady throughout the day, opening at 125; and selling at 126; closing at 126. Cash gold is very scarce, and was worth; for delivery.

Government securities continue firm and in demand for all the assues. The 7.30s are quoted 1001 a101, and no large order could be filled without a further advance on the price. One-year certificates are held with great firmness.

The speculation in the small fancies has lost much of its force, the parties manipulating them having accomplished their purpose. The general share market was steady. Rock Island, under the dividend, was higher, and its recent buyers have made a large profit by inducing the Company to retire its stocks so freely. The books of transfer, we understand, will close May 8, when the issue of scrip will be made, and not reopen until after the election. Eric common was strong, and sold as high as 75½, closing at 75. The preferred stock is not in demand and the amount is increasing upon the street. The annual statement is still delayed, and rumors of its contents are abundant and unfavorable. What parties holding it as an investment and those loaning upon it most want to know is the extent of its floating debt at this date, and the amount of engagements the road is under for construction in future. The Company in its bonds and leases represents a capital almost as large as the New-York Central, leaving its stock of both kinds out of the calculation. The Western list is steady, but there are no large speculative movements apparent. At the Second Board there was a sharp decline in Quicksilver, which sold down to 514, but rallied to 524. The Railway share list was very active and the transactions were large. Erie sold as high as 742, and the balance of the list was strong. The closing prices were: Ohio Certificates, 25] @26]; Canton, 51] @52; Cumberland Coal, 46@46j; Quicksilver, 512@52; Mariposa, 122@13; Mariposa Preferred, 23@23j; New-York Central, 92j@ 83; Erie, 75@751; Hudson River, 108@1081; Reading. 1031 2 1031; Michigan Southern, 791 280; Cleveland and Pittsburgh, 821 2821; Rock Island, 119 2 119; North-Western, 261 2261; do. The Profidence Journal says:

800 at Bergen; 324 went direct to slanghter-houses, and we estimate 200 sold at the down fown stables, making 5,144, which is a supply for the week, quite sufficient to account for the fact, that although brokers and speculators made a desperate effort early in the morning to advance the rates of last Monday, they were on the whole unsuccessful. As it was a rainy, uncomfortable morning, and many butchers were anxious to get through their business as soon as possible, and as an impression prevailed at first that the supply was short, it is very probable that a good many of the early buyers of first class stock, paid half a cent higher than our last week's quotations; but on the whole we do not see how we can make the quotations generally, higher new than see how we can make the quotations generally, higher new than seek for which the demand was alow all the forestock, for which the demand was alow all the forestock, for which the demand was alow all the forestock, and positively dail all the afternoon, with a prospect of cleaning harder than less Monday. The supply of first-class stock is not quies equal to the demand. The buyers of it declare prices higher. Of other classes it is ample, as some persons who purchased at high rates at Albary will find to their coat. Most of the sellers of such stock declare this market lower than that of last Monday, but careful comparison of prices both days, with no theory spon our part to maintain, convinces us that if there is any change, it is in favor of buyers, rather than sellers. It is true that a good many first-class cattle sold to-day at 17.8 %c, per is—jone, at it willing steers at 15 site, and rougher once at 14 wiles, conting only like pounds of meet, sithing the value of hides and fat, which are estimated in Baston quotations. As we close these observations, the trude appears to be winding up bad for all who have cattle on hand this evening.

Receipts this week.

QUOTATIONA.—The following reports of sales of sheep and lambs, by several of the sheep-brokers who sell on commission. Will give the average of prioss per head this week. They are quoted per pound, live weight, for—Sheared Sheep, 728c.; Wool Sheep, 820c.; Lamos, 10214c.

The Sheep market at 10 o'clock this morning (Tuesday) was bere of stock, all received having been sold at rates strongly in favor of drovers over those of one week ago. Indeed a good many sheared sheep were sold at 8c. # B. One lot of 175 Obio, medium fine wool, bought at Albany and brought in by Green, sold in lots as follows: 50, 53, and 10 at 8c., 57 at 7jc., and 5 culls by the head. This drove weighed in Medison County, Onio, after being sheared, 118 B cach; in Albany, 1107 B. Isaac Vannatta sold his drove to a wholesale butcher before he landed from the ferry-boat, at 7jc. # B. no culls. This lot, 579 head, weighed 106 it in Lieking County, Ohio; they were then washed and sheared, and shipped finmedintely, and weighed here soly in He was offered $5c. # B. for the wool at home, which he held for 30c. H. B. Ware's Ohio sheared sheep sold Monday at 1/28c. # B. averaging about 107.B. Good fair-wooled sheep sold Monday and Tuesday at 8.39c. # B. and we think a good lot. If such had been on the market this morning, would have brought 9j or 9j cents, as the supply was short and the demand large. About half the stock of the last two days about three-fourths. The pelt buyers offer $2.25 cach for first-rate flue wooled pelts. The receipts are lighter just now, because owners are holding back to shear. Browning's daily receipts of the last two days about three-fourths. The pelt buyers offer $2.25 cach for first-rate flue wooled pelts. The receipts of the week week has been sheared, and for the last two days about three-fourths. The pelt buyers offer $2.25 cach for first-rate flue wooled pelts. The fluctnations in the hog market since the date of last report have been alight. The number arriving has exceeded last week, but the average quality of the stock, and the general tone of the market has experienced little variation. Prices have ruled steady, generally favoring the shipper, there having been no day since the last report but that a good lot would in cite considerable competition. The grade most sought after are smooth, small boned hegs, weighing from 190 to 225 %, snitable for retailing. It is somewhat surprising, in view of sterding reports of trichina, but is a fact, that three-fourths of all the hors that arrive now are sold at the rotal stands. About one quarter are used by the English cutters and bacon men. The regular packers are using none at all; they cannot cut at over 12c., and very few now sell under 12jc., net. The demand is fair to-day at the following prices: Best grades, 10/2/10jc, medium and ordinary, 10j/2/10jc, inferior and masi-fod, 9f/2/10jc. The arrivals for the week amount to 10,465, corresponding week last year, 2,028; corresponding week preceding year, 11,232.

IMPORTANT DECISION TO CITY EMPLOYEES-THE

M'COOL AND WARNOCK CONTRACT.

James Esgan agt the Mayor, &c.

This action which is understood to be a pioneer suit on which quite a number are dependent, is brought by an laspector of Street Paving under the McCool and Warnock contract. The contract was in last December annuled by the Croton Aqueduot Department for cause, and the Common Council passed a resolution to pay the employés the amounts due them. On this the plaintiff claims for 60 day's work at $2 a day, $120. The case was tried by the Court without a Jury, the questions involved being mainly questions of law.

The Court has rendered its decision in favor of the plaintiff for the full amount claimed, finding that the plaintiff was employed by the city under the contract; that the appropriation of $100,000 for it was raised and $5,000 set apart from the contract price for the purpose of paying the plaintiff and other persons in this place.

DENTAL DIFFICULTIES.

Henry N. Graham sgt. Gec. D. Barnes.

The parties were partners in the dental business in Lima, and entered into arrangements by which the defendant gave drafts payable in this city, for which the present said is brought. The arrangement was in writing and specified the drafts. The defense was that one draft for $250 had no consideration whatever; gand, beside that, the defendant had delivered to the plaintiff tools to the value of $400, which the plaintiff was to redeiver to him, but never has, as well as two onnees of spange gold, worth $50 per onnee, and a large number of teeth, for all of which he claimed a set off. Plaintiff testified that the tools were worth but $150, that he got but one-eighth of an onnee of gold worth $50 per onnee, and that the tools by steamer to the defendant, and was not bound to return the materials.

The jury rendered a verdlet for the plaintiff for $576 86, to which the Court added an allowance.

The United States Revenue-steamer Ashuelot, Capt. Edward A. Freeman commanding, has been engaged, since the 1st of January, in cruising along the coast of Maine, from Quoddy head to the Penolscot. Daring this time the Ashuelot has traversed a distance of 2,543 miles, the greater portion of which was made under sail alone. She has (up to the 1st of April) boarded forty vessels approaching the coast, hauled two barks off the rocks (saving vessels, eargoes, and crews), and assisted with provisions, stores, etc., three schooners, besides performing a variety of less important services. There has been no loss of life, and only one total loss of a vossel, within the limits of the Ashuelot's cruising ground during the past very seven Winter. The small number of vessels boarded by the Ashuelot is accounted for by the fact that in the Winter season merchant captains give the coast of Maine as wide a berth as possible. The Ashuelot commenced her cruise without any extra repairs, and comes out of it without damage to hall, spars, or rigging, beyond the ordinary wear and tear. She is the swiftest screw revenue-cutter in service; and, on the 30th of March last, sailed a distance of 25 miles in two hours, under sail alone. The Ashuelot is at present eagged in watching vessels in the harbor of Eastport, Me, to see that no irregular departures take place; but, in spite of her incessant vigilance, the territie Fernians, of whom our Canadian neighbors are so much afraid, succeeded in getting out a small schooner on Saturday last, which it is reported was armed with a howitzer said to have been "stolen" from a prominenteitized of Bastport. There is great excitament in the town, the public feeling being almost entirely in favor of the Fenians. Every steams which arrives brings with it a number of fine, determined, well-behaved men, a great pertion of whom are from the Western States. These men do not remain in Eastport for any length of time, but are served to see a s

Mazziai and the Italian Parliament.

Mazziai and the Inlian Parliament.

M. Erdin, the Naples correspondent of the Temps, writing to that paper on the 27th ult., says: Under data London, March 2, twenty days before the vote of the Chamber, Mazziai sent to a friend at Palermo his surrender of the seat to which he had just been elected at Messina. This letter contains two essential parts—a criticism of the sentence hanging over the head of Mazziai, and the reasons which prevent him from taking his sent in Parliament:

"Citizens of Messina: With a thoroughly Sicilian firmness of will, you have entered a cenerous protest against the iniquitous and absurd sentence which condemns me to death, for having attempted, in advance of others, the work of the unity of the country; iniquitous because it condemns in me what the condemning mouarchy accepts as its fundamental principle and the basis of its power; because this condemnation remains though the Sardinian kingdom has ceased to exist."

Mazzini next decleres that whether admitted or not by the Chamber, he can in no case accept the seat offered him, because he is a republican.

"Thirty years ago I swore fidelity to Italy, united and republican. It kept silent respecting the second part of my fidelity, upon seeing he whole country differ in opinion and wish to make a trial in a different direction. I did not renonnce my yow. I seconded, as far as I deemed right, and to the extent of my power, whatever would tend to solve the first half of the problem (that is the united Italy), but without ever changing, as others did (Crispi, &c.), into an absolute principle (adhesion to the monarchy) what cend only be for us all atemporary basis of experiment. I carried abnogation so far as even to point out to the monarchy the glorions and relatively easy path that it might follow in order to arrive at annuty, but I never retracted my early yow; I contracted not fresh energy ment which could hamper it. I did not addicate the liberty of mind and spirit before a bypothesis. And now that, for me as least, the experiment ha
